● SKIPPER'S MOTIVATION

Vincent: I'm a big fan of the CIC Normandy Channel Race. It's a very tough race but also beautiful because it takes us to great places. Really it is a magical race, probably one of the most beautiful races of the French coastline. Each edition has a very high plateau. This time too, there will be new arrivals. There is a really interesting variety also in the boats. You have to be good among this diversity. The best sailors are often at the forefront on the CIC NCR but the game remains open thanks to the boats. It is a mix of skilled sailors and varied boats with strengths and weaknesses that are not identical. Depending on the weather conditions, everyone can express themselves. It is a race in which you have to have your nerves.
