● SKIPPER'S MOTIVATION

The highly technical course of the CIC Normandy Channel Race is always an exciting challenge, especially since the level of competition rises a notch every season. The goal remains the joy of sailing, with the ambition of making it through the same gate as the main fleet at the finish line, thereby upholding the spirit of amateurism in a class that is becoming increasingly professional. We are very happy to welcome Henry on board, a seasoned sailor who has already proven himself on "pointus."
